

"I am the resurrection and the life.
The one who believes in me will live,
even though they die."

Jesus Christ (John 11:25)

Do you have any hope for your future?

We may hope for certain things to happen in our lives, like getting rich, growing a family or ticking off our 'bucket list' of experiences. We can't be sure that any of it will happen, but we do know that death will be the tragic end to it all.

What really happens when you die?

Most want to think there is something beyond the grave. The prospect of ceasing to exist, or the end of all that we enjoy, is not a welcome thought. Therefore, many prefer to ignore it. Yet, as the day approaches, it is something that makes us afraid. But is it really the end?

Jesus proves there is life after death

Jesus offered life after death, and then confirmed his offer by rising from the dead, as seen by hundreds of people. The Bible gives us eye-witness accounts which have not changed over time. His resurrection proves death is not the end, and gives us a genuine hope of life beyond the grave.

Jesus offers you an amazing future!

Jesus offers not a vague hope, but a promise as certain as his own resurrection. He promises a life of joy and satisfaction that will never again be cut short by death.

There is, however, a condition in Jesus' promise. We must believe, or put our trust, in him as our God. Having lived to please ourselves, we must turn to God, ask his forgiveness, and live to please him. Then death will not be a tragic end, but a tremendous beginning!

Will you put your trust in Jesus?
